

Training Resources

Enrole was designed to be intuitive and ultimately easy to use, yet to effectively get the best from our system, end-users should be familiar with its vast capabilities, understand how our solution works, and the way it was designed.

After installation and implementation of your Enrole system, we offer many ways to ensure your users have all the resources necessary to succeed with your new purchase. Entrinsik provides cost-effective training options and tailored solutions that will ensure employees get the most out of the software and keep users up-to-date with the latest features.

In-depth Training and Consulting Services

Investing in training services with our knowledgeable staff can often be a great way to ensure employees are getting the most out of their software. Entrinsik offers a variety of training and consulting services to boost user adoption and increase work productivity. Training packages can be purchased for both online and on-site services, both customized to your unique needs.

On-Site Training

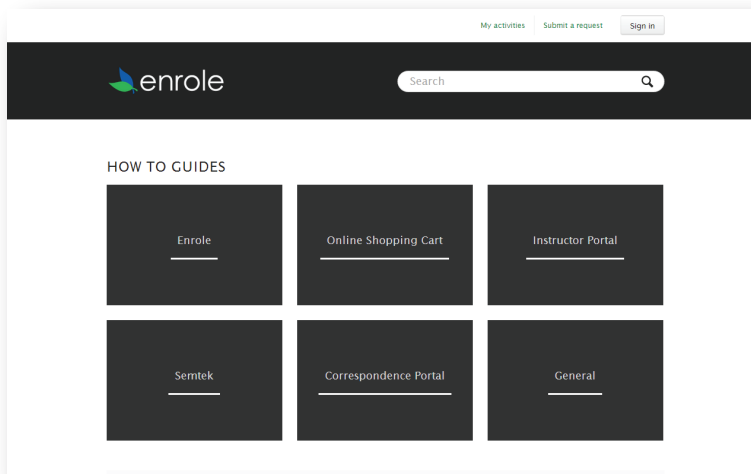

If your organization has many users who want an in-depth understanding of all the functionality within Enrole and its web portals, the best solution may be on-site training, where our trained staff comes to you for a personalized session. Training can include an overview of Enrole, new features and functions, and tailored subjects depending on your unique needs.

Web-based Training

Web-based Training - If only one (or a small number) of users would like personalized training, we suggest our online training services. One of our support staff will schedule an online screen-sharing meeting with you to walk your users through the features and functions of Enrole and answer any specific questions they may have.

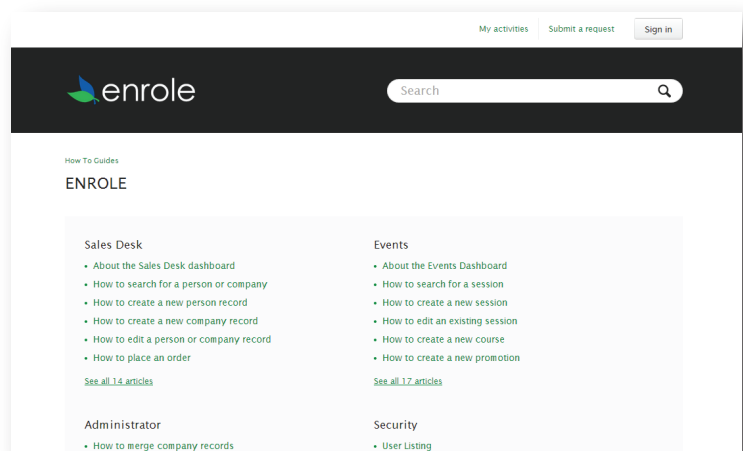

On-Demand Resources

The easiest way to learn about your Enrole system is by accessing the free on-demand resources in our knowledge center, which includes documentation, how-to guides, and training videos. All online training resources have been designed to be short documents and more extensive ones can be downloaded as PDFs. Webinars are short and to the point, giving your users the information they need instantly.

- Easy to understand self-service training - no technical expertise required
- Easily accessed from the Entrinsik website or directly from the Enrole platform
- Includes everything you need to get started with Enrole and get the most out of your system

- Categorized training articles
- Specific, topic-based how-to guides
- Intuitive keyword search bar that guides you to the resource you need
- Training and demo videos
- Documentation and upgrade support

Specialized Training for Reporting with Enrole

Your Enrole system comes with Entrinsik's award-winning reporting and analytics tool, Informer. You can report directly from data within Enrole, schedule automated reports, and visualize important data with graphs and charts. Entrinsik offers specialized reporting training for non-technical end users and more advanced IT staff so you can get the most out of your Enrole system with the added benefits of advanced reporting capabilities.